Director's Report

His Excellency Shri S.M. Krishna, Governor of Maharashtra and our Chief Guest for the Convocation; Chairman, Mr. R.K. Krishna Kumar; Distinguished Guests, Alumni, Students, Staff and Faculty

INTRODUCTION

Ladies and Gentlemen, I extend a warm welcome to all of you to the 65th Annual Convocation of the Tata Institute of Social Sciences and the presentation of the Annual Report for the year 2004–2005.

As yet another academic year closes, it is time to look back on the achievements and the lessons of the year that has passed. This year's Convocation is being held while the Institute is engaged in a sweeping review of its work and deep reflection on the role and challenges that lie in the future.

At the same time, however, the Institute has continued to strive to be at the forefront of responding to the many challenges enveloping the country today. Through its teaching, training, research and field action, the Institute has attempted to address a wide spectrum of issues in rural and urban India across diverse spaces such as communities, families, prisons and custodial homes, the criminal justice system, hospitals and health systems, industries, disaster situations and academia, to but mention a few.

Ladies and Gentlemen, I commend to you the 2004–2005 Annual Report of the Tata Institute of Social Sciences.

Highlights

- The B.A. Social Work programme, with specialisation in Rural Development, commenced at the TISS Rural Campus in Tuljapur in August 2004.
- The Department of Health Services Studies, TISS, has been designated as the WHO Collaborating Centre for Health Policy Research and Training.

- The Department of Medical and Psychiatric Social Work was awarded a grant of Rs. 23.55 lakhs to undertake the Departmental Research Support (DRS) in the areas of community and mental health, reproductive health, and sexuality for a period of 5 years under the Special Assistance Programme (SAP) of the University Grants Commission (UGC).
- Faculty from the Unit for Urban Studies and the Department of Urban and Rural Community Development took up an important research project titled 'Socioeconomic Survey of Scavengers Engaged in the Practice of Manual Scavenging in Maharashtra'. Sponsored by the Mahatma Phule Backward Class Development Corporation Ltd. of the Government of Maharashtra, this is the first time that such a comprehensive study on the socioeconomic conditions of scavengers has been undertaken. The findings of the study will feed into the government's policy of rehabilitation of thousands of scavengers across the country.
- The TISS responded to the Mumbai High Court order of conducting a short research on 'Farmers' Suicides in Maharashtra' in response to a Public Interest Litigation. Prepared by a team of faculty and staff from our Rural Campus, the Report has been considered very valuable by the High Court in terms of understanding the agrarian crisis and the exploration of immediate solutions, as well as the urgently needed long-term policy changes. The judgement is still pending.
- The TISS will facilitate the Ladakh Autonomous Hill District Council in Leh District (Ladakh Region) to prepare and implement a multi-sectoral plan with people's participation, with financial support from the Tata Trusts.
- Dr. Vrinda Datta has been selected as the Global Leader for Young Children 2005 by the World Forum for Early Childhood Care and Education.
- Our students have done us proud again. Ms. Abhishikta Das, Ms. Preeti Krishnan and Ms. Dipshikha Mitra, students of the M.A. programme in Personnel Management and Industrial Relations won the First Prize in 'Parivartan 2005' on 'Outsourcing', organised by the Indian Institute of Technology, Delhi. Ms. Ananthalakshmi H., Ms. Anuradha Krishnamurthy and Ms. Abhishikta Das (students of the Master's programme in PM & IR) won the First Prize in the national level paper writing competition on 'Learning Curve' held at Larsen and Toubro, Mumbai.

REACHING OUT TO PEOPLE IN DISTRESS: THE TISS RESPONSE TO TSUNAMI

The TISS has always reached out to support people affected by natural and human-made crises. Way back in 1947, the Institute sent a faculty and student team to Kurukshetra to work with refugees who came from Pakistan. Recalling the work done, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, who had observed the TISS team at work, said at the inauguration of this campus in 1954:

We found the difference in their work and the work of many others who were earnest and had done their best, but who did not have the training to do it well. There is a difference between the trained workers and the merely enthusiastic workers.

Since then TISS has responded to various crises such as floods, riots, cyclones, earthquakes and industrial disasters in different parts of the country. The Institute's work is centred around relief management; psychosocial support to women, children and other vulnerable groups; assessment of loss and impact to lives, property, livelihoods, environment and infrastructure; rehabilitation and development needs; mobilisation of human resources for relief and rehabilitation work; facilitating community participation in the reconstruction and rehabilitation process; policy and programme development support to government and non-governmental organisations (NGOs); coordination of civil society participation; training and capacity-building of personnel engaged in relief and rehabilitation work; publication and documentation; and conflict resolution and peace building initiatives.

TISS Support to People Affected by the Tsunami in India and Sri Lanka

The TISS, in collaboration with 29 Colleges of Social Work in Tamil Nadu involving about 1,500 postgraduate student volunteers and over 100 teachers, completed an assessment of loss to lives, property, livelihoods, environment and infrastructure; rehabilitation and development needs; and psychosocial counselling with affected women and children. This assessment covered about 100,000 families in 279 villages spread over 11 tsunami-affected districts. Village-specific reports, along with data, are being provided to government and non-government agencies engaged in reconstruction and rehabilitation work. The TISS proposes long-term involvement in the villages selected by the Tata Relief Committee for housing and livelihood rehabilitation. Possible areas of support are facilitating community participation in decision-making; implementation of housing and livelihood programmes; psychosocial support; and other initiatives.

In the Andaman and Nicobar Islands, most islands in the Nicobar area were devastated by the tsunami waves. The Institute was involved in relief work in Katchal Island, following which it carried out an assessment of resources and livelihoods affected by the tsunami in Car Nicobar, Nancowry Group of Islands, and Katchal Island. This was carried out in collaboration with the National Institute of Disaster Management, Government of India; and Pondicherry University. The TISS's long-term plan in this area includes provision of psychosocial recovery support to affected people in two islands — Katchal and Teressa. TISS is also collaborating with Butterflies, a child rights organisation, for conducting a training programme on child rights-based development work in the Islands. It aims at training the youth from the affected community with basic knowledge, attitudes and skills to work for the community's development with specific focus on child rights. Further, the TISS will work to create a cadre of development workers in each of these islands by organising training to educated youth in the islands to plan, implement and monitor development and welfare programmes. They will work with the people to link resources available from government and non-government agencies.

To support the tsunami-affected people in Sri Lanka, the TISS deputed 5 faculty members over a period of 3 months to train volunteers in psychosocial support and trauma counselling in the affected areas all over the country. In the coming months, the TISS will be deputing 2 faculty members to strengthen Sri Lanka's capacity to provide long-term psychosocial support to women and children, as well as to strengthen institutional capacity to effectively respond to disasters.

REVIEW AND RESTRUCTURING OF TISS

There are several initiatives at the individual, departmental, inter-departmental, and institute levels to create new frameworks for curricula, research and action and to reposition its work to respond to the challenges facing the nation. These initiatives have been in response to past and current reviews, which include the 'Perspectives for the Future Development of the Institute (1994)', the 'Third External Review Committee of TISS' (2000), the 'Report of the Expert Committee of the National Assessment and Accreditation Council' (2002), and 'Report of the UGC Expert Committee for the Xth Plan'. All these reports made recommendations for change.

The review and restructuring process began in September 2004 with the following objectives:

Phase 1

- Revisit and redefine the vision, mission and values of TISS through review and reflection of its work in the contemporary national and sub-national social, political and economic contexts.
- Develop perspectives, thrust and thematic areas and structures of its academic and research programmes to better accomplish its mission.

Phase 2

- Restructure administrative and financial structures and systems to facilitate effective support of academic and research programmes.
- Develop accountability indicators and mechanisms to enforce it at individual, department/unit/section and institute levels.

Phase 1 of this process will be completed by August 2005 and new teaching programmes will be initiated from June 2006.

ENDOWMENTS

- The ICICI Bank has donated Rs. 1,50,00,000 towards setting up a Scholarship for the students of Bachelor of Arts Programme in Social Work.
- The National Thermal Power Corporation has instituted Gold Medals for (a) the Best Student in M.A. Social Work with specialisation in Family and Child Welfare, (b) Best Student in M.A. Social Work with specialisation in Urban and Rural Community Development, and (c) the Best Girl Student in M.A. Personnel Management and Industrial Relations.

TENTH PLAN

The Institute entered the fourth year of the Tenth Plan in April 2005. The UGC has approved the construction of (a) Seminar/Meeting Hall, with faculty offices and classrooms (at Naoroji Campus Annexe), (b) Hostel (Naoroji Campus Annexe), (c) Staff/Service Staff quarters, (d) expansion of stack area in the Sir Dorabji Tata Memorial Library (SDTML). The UGC has also approved the construction of a Health Centre by reallocating part of the fund earmarked for student amenities. The tendering process for all the construction projects is in progress and construction is likely to commence by July 2005. The UGC has also approved the Institute's proposal for construction of Service Staff Quarters (2 Units), Faculty Quarters (4 Units), entrance gate with security cabin and street lighting in the Rural Campus, Tuljapur. Construction is expected to commence shortly.

A major part of the UGC allocations for purchase of books and journal subscriptions have been utilised by the various Departments and Units. With this financial support, the Institute could procure about 7,000 books in specialised areas for teaching and training. Under its own Tenth Plan allocation, the Rural Campus has set up its own Library with books in the vernacular and e-journal facilities for the students and staff.

IN MEMORIAM

We deeply mourn the loss of three of our students this year:

The total student enrolment for the 4 Master's Degree programmes was 358, of which, 268 were enrolled for the M.A. programme in Social Work, 64 for the M.A. programme in Personnel Management and Industrial Relations, 17 for the Master of Health Administration, and 42 for the Master of Hospital Administration programmes. Women students comprised 66.76 per cent of the Master's Degree students.

M.Phil. and Ph.D. Degree Programmes

The Ph.D. programme registered 48 scholars of whom 34 were part-time. The Ph.D. programme in Social Sciences saw a registration of 41 students; the remaining 7 students were registered for a Ph.D. in Social Work. The M.Phil. programme registered 5 scholars — 4 in Social Sciences and 1 in Social Work.

The two part-time evening Diploma programmes had a total enrolment of 45 students with the Diploma in Hospital Administration programme registering 20 and the Diploma in Personnel Management registering 25 students on its rolls.

Certificate Programmes

The full-time Post-Graduate Certificate programme in Research Methodology enrolled 9 students, while the one-year, part-time Certificate programme in Social Work enrolled 12 students.

Curriculum

The Department of Family and Child Welfare introduced a course on 'Strategic Management of NGOs' for its specialisation students. The course objectives are to: study the concepts and theories pertaining to strategic management so as to appropriately apply these to varying practice situations to enhance the effectiveness of NGOs within the perspective of social development.

Field Work

Field work is an integral part of the teaching programmes in TISS. Historically, field work has been considered as a means of providing students the opportunity to integrate knowledge, values and skills. In field work settings, students learn by doing. Our students are placed in social and human service agencies and industries to gain practice experience working with individuals, groups, families, and communities. They also gain and contribute knowledge related to organisational policy and administration. These field work opportunities enable our students to apply and integrate previous and current learning. Opportunities are available for students through field work agencies to develop knowledge of professional practice at multiple system levels. Field work supervisors oversee their learning experience and assist the students in integrating theory and practice skills.

The M.A. Social Work students were placed in 82 agencies for their concurrent field work (Section I: Appendix 2), of which 27 agencies were introduced this year. Second year students were placed in 58 agencies for their block field work.

The students of the M.A. programme in Personnel Management and Industrial Relations were placed in 61 agencies for their concurrent field work (Section I: Appendix 2), of which 17 agencies were introduced this year.

The M.H.A. (Hospital and Health) students were placed in 33 agencies for their internships (Section I: Appendix 2), of which 15 agencies were introduced this year.

The students of the Diploma programme in Personnel Management were placed in 27 agencies, while the Diploma students of Hospital Administration were placed in 33 agencies for their internships (23 agencies were introduced this year). The students of the Certificate in Social Work programme were placed in 8 agencies for their field work component (Section I: Appendix 2).

Rural Camp

The Rural Camp is a compulsory, non-graded activity for the first year students of M.A. Social Work with the purpose of getting acquainted with the issues of people living in rural and tribal areas. This year, our students visited rural areas in different states, and stayed there for a brief period, and gained an exposure to rural realities and some insights into the nature of governmental and non-governmental interventions. Based on their specialisation, the first year students were divided into five groups with each group, focussing on certain theme(s) of study: rights and development; experiences of people's empowerment; education and health in rural areas; issues of governance in health, education and Panchayati Raj system; and displacement and development. The agencies who facilitated the Rural Camp were the Legal Aid and Human Rights Centre (Hathnur, Gujarat); Urmul (Bikaner, Rajasthan); Pratham and its associate NGOs (Kachchh, Gujarat); Mahila Mandal, Barmer Agor (Barmer, Rajasthan); and Samata with its associate NGOs (in Godavari District, Andhra Pradesh).

Study Tours

Study tours are a compulsory, non-graded activity for the second year students of the M.A. programme in Social Work.

The students of the Department of Criminology and Correctional Administration visited Delhi for their study tour. They visited both government organisations and NGOs such as the Tihar Central Jail, National Human Rights Commission, Amnesty International, Aashray Adhikar Abhiyan, South Asian Coalition on Child Servitude, and HAQ. The visits helped the students to understand the functioning of these organisations and their contribution in the realisation of rights of prisoners, victims, children, and other vulnerable and marginalised people.

The Department of Family and Child Welfare chose Hyderabad for their study tour with the objective of getting field exposure to the various programmes and initiatives undertaken by both government organisations and NGOs working in the areas of women and children. The students visited the National Institute for the Mentally Handicapped, the Special School run by the Bharat Heavy Electricals Limited, Mahila Samata Society, MV Foundation, and Velegu. The study tour involved field visits of the project area and interaction with the various stakeholders of the organisation and the people covering both rural and urban settings. The students also stayed in the villages to understand the work of the organisations. The students also got an opportunity to experience and learn about programmes for women's empowerment under Mahila Samata and families in poverty under Velegu (both government programmes), and prevention and rehabilitation of child labour under MV Foundation (a non-government programme).

The students of the Department of Medical and Psychiatric Social Work visited Goa and met with key NGOs and government organisations engaged in the health sector. The organisations chosen covered the diversity of local issues and provided an understanding of health and mental health, as well as health as a dynamic concept as operational in Goa. The organisations visited were: Positive People, Anyay Rahit Zindagi, Goa State AIDS Cell, Kripa Counselling Centre and Kripa Rehabilitation Centre; Sangath, Freedom Foundation, Institute of Psychiatry and Human Behaviour, Bailancho Saad, and Jan Ugahi.

The students of the Department of Social Welfare Administration visited Rain Centre, M.S. Swaminathan Foundation, Dravida Munnetra Kazhagam (regional political party), Banyan, Udavum Karangal in Chennai, and the Sri Aurobindo Ashram in Pondicherry. These visits helped the students understand the importance of preparedness for preventing environmental disasters. They also explored the work of agencies in areas such as identity politics, agenda of welfare of the marginalised; role of science and technology in increasing agricultural productivity and in increasing family income by facilitating off-seasonal non-farm activity; use of information and communication technology for optimising returns from agriculture, fishing and so on; the human rights of destitute mentally challenged women, application of relevant laws, and their rehabilitation; and management of organisations offering spiritual solace to seekers on a large scale.

The students of the Department of Urban and Rural Community Development visited Bangalore and Mysore where they interacted with organisations working on various issues and development concerns: Janagrah, which is working for efficient and good governance through an endeavour of citizens' participation; Bangalore Agenda Task Force, a private professional organisation working for the upgradation of civic amenities and solid waste management; Equations, which is working for equitable tourism and for upholding community and environmental concerns; Nisarg Foundation, which is working towards promotion of the rights to self-determination and environment of the indigenous people; and Samuha, focussing on the empowerment of the marginalised. The interaction with these organisations enlightened and widened the students' understanding of diverse development concepts and concerns, innovative strategies of project planning, initiation, monitoring, interfacing and collaborative intervention endeavours.

The students of the Certificate Course in Social Work visited Pune City, Khed Taluka and Ahmednagar Taluka for their study tour. Ten organisations, including 3 in rural areas, were visited which covered issues ranging from adoption and child care to community health, care of destitute women and children, and rural development. This exposure enabled students to gain an insight into and develop a wider perspective about social issues and related alternatives in social work interventions.

Rural Practicum

The Rural Practicum is a three-week intensive rural field education component aimed at strengthening the experience base of M.A. Social Work students specialising in Urban and Rural Community Development on rural issues, and creating spaces for more reflective analysis. Students, on completion of their first year programme, undergo this exercise. This paves way for enriched inputs in the specialisation courses offered in the second year of the programme. The location and nature of practice are decided by students in consultation with faculty and is planned in tandem with research plans or summer placements. This year, the students have undertaken their Rural Practicum with the following organisations: Ladakh Ecological Development Group; Gramin Vikas Trust; Ambuja Cement Foundation; Narmada Bachao Andolan; North Bengal Council for the Disabled; Anandi; Institute of Himalayan Environmental Research and Education; Rural Development Organisation; Dangi Mazdoor Union; Rejuvenate India Movement; Naandi Foundation; Mahatma Phule Backward Class Corporation Ltd.; BAIF; Krishi Gram Vikas Kendra; Vikalpa; Socio Economic and Educational Development; ITC Ltd.; Gram Vikas

Kendra; Share and Care in Medico; Society for the Promotion of Eco-friendly Sustainable Development; and Watershed Organisation Trust.

M.A. and M.H.A. Research Projects

The research project at the Master's Degree level offers students the opportunity to plan and conduct original investigation in their area of study with the aid and guidance of a faculty member. While a research project is compulsory for students of the Master of Health Administration, it is optional for the both the M.A. and the M.H.A. (Hospital) programmes. In 2004–2005, 35 students of M.A. Social Work, 11 of M.A. Personnel Management and Industrial Relations, 6 students of M.H.A. (Health), and 4 of M.H.A. (Hospital) undertook research projects under the guidance of 43 faculty members (Section I: Appendix 3).

M.Phil. and Ph.D. Seminars

Scholars of the M.Phil. and Ph.D. programmes are required to present their research proposals and self-study papers in seminars. This year, 20 such presentations were made (Section I: Appendix 4).

RESEARCH

Research in basic and applied social sciences is one of the core components of the Institute's academic work. This year, the Institute was engaged in 104 research and documentation projects (Section I: Appendix 5 and Section II: Appendix 1). Of these, 14 projects were interdisciplinary involving faculty members from two or more departments/units and the remaining 90 projects were conducted by faculty members attached to a specific department/unit. During 2004–2005, 40 projects were initiated and 8 projects completed. The new projects initiated are under the following areas:

Social work education: Innovations in schools of social work.

Funding of Research Projects

The research projects of the Institute are funded by various sources. These include funds for research from its own Board of Research Studies, the government (both Central and State), international agencies, and so on. This year, the Institute sponsored 39 research projects, the Central and State Governments 16, and international agencies 19 research projects. Three projects were sponsored by more than one agency.

FIELD ACTION PROJECTS

Extension activities denote the social responsibility of teaching institutes towards the problems and the emerging needs of society. The TISS has initiated and promoted several kinds of extension activities since its inception in 1936. The Institute has played a major role in piloting or pioneering new services and in initiating time-bound social work programmes within well-established organisations/systems, or outside them, with the objective of demonstrating to the public, the need for such services. Medical social work in hospitals, social work in schools, the child guidance clinic, and social work in family courts, to name a few, were started as demonstration projects of the TISS. These evolved out of a need to demonstrate new interventions, respond to new needs and changing social realities; provide field experience and training to students and faculty members; evolve new strategies for intervention; and develop indigenous data base literature for training. Termed as Field Action Projects (FAPs) in TISS, they have always played an integral role in the curriculum of social work education. Through these projects, faculty members are in touch with the field, and, thus ensure that their teaching is in touch with social realities. Students are placed for field work in these projects, and, in the process of learning, they also contribute to its growth. Much of what has evolved as social work theory is also essentially the outcome of practice. Field action projects are, thus, an integral part of validation or revision of such a practice–theory continuum. These projects fulfil several objectives of professional education, and have evolved over the years due to various internal and external factors.

The FAPs have, over the years, demonstrated interventions with a wide variety of marginalised groups (women, children, youth, rural and urban communities) and issues (violence against women, formal and non-formal education, physical and mental health, communalism, human rights, child rights). The FAPs address a wide range of issues with a broad goal of a more equal and just society, through capacity building, empowering people to exercise more informed choice, and secure their rights.

Today, the FAPs extend beyond Mumbai to Thane, Navi Mumbai, Raigad, Sangli, Pune, Nanded, Yavatmal, Nashik, Aurangabad, Tuljapur and Wardha in Maharashtra. There are currently more than 70 field staff employed by the FAPs of TISS. These include project coordinators, social workers, programme staff, administrative and support staff.

The total number of FAPs are 24—16 in the Main Campus at Mumbai and the remaining 8 at our Rural Campus at Tuljapur (Section I: Appendix 6 and Section II: Appendix 2).

New Field Action Projects, 2004–2005

Six new FAPs were initiated this year:

- Development Support to the Ladakh Autonomous Hill District Council: 2005–2009.
- Nepal–India Safe Migration Initiative for Reducing Vulnerability to STI/HIV among Nepali Migrants in Mumbai.
- Rural Community Development Initiatives in 14 villages of Osmanabad district.
- Targeted Intervention for Reducing Vulnerability to STI/HIV among Sex Workers and their Clients.
- Total Sanitation Programme in Osmanabad district.
- Water User's Association in Jawalga Mesai.

Special Cell for Women and Children

The Special Cell for Women and Children, an FAP of the Department of Family and Child Welfare, under the Memorandum of Understanding with the Government of Maharashtra (GoM), UNIFEM, and the Institute, completed an 'end of period' evaluation study. The study indicates the high level of effectiveness and reach of the Special Cells' work with violated women. The State-level Monitoring Committee has decided that the GoM would fund the Cell from 2005 and bring the Special Cells across Maharashtra State under the umbrella of an autonomous Government Society. An MoU to this effect has been signed between TISS and the GoM. The Institute will ensure technical support to the Special Cells to enable them to take firm roots within the government system.

TRAINING

A glance at the range of training initiatives undertaken during the year reveals the Institute's ability to straddle a vast canvas of social issues. The TISS believes in following a participative methodology which is non-directive, dialogical and experiential in nature. While it is receptive to requests from the government and from national and international bodies, the claims of organisations at the community and grassroots levels, are considered equally significant.

The training programmes are constructed to impart knowledge and skills rooted in ground realities. Participants are encouraged to identify issues that confront them, seek solutions which are most applicable to their own realities, which they can utilise once they return to their organisations or communities.

During 2004–2005, 118 programmes were organised by 56 faculty members, of which 12 programmes were jointly organised by faculty from two or more departments/units (Section I: Appendix 7). The Rural Campus organised 6 such programmes (Section II: Appendix 3). The Institute has increased its international presence through the organisation of Summer and Winter Institutes on Care Support in HIV/AIDS, Rights of Children in Situations of Disaster, as well as hosted workshops on Child Participation. Research Methodology, as a theme for training, has been exemplified through international workshops on 'Social and Behavioural Sciences Research in Reproductive Health' and 'Ethics of Social Science Research in Health.'

At the national level, themes such as Corporate Social Responsibility and Community Development, Sensitivity Training for Personnel involved with Relief and Rehabilitation, Promotion of Human Rights and Protection of Dalit rights have reached out to personnel in the corporate as well as government sectors. The TISS faculty has also conducted training on Qualitative Research Methodology, Gender and Development, Capacity Building of Women Managers in Higher Education, Hospital Management and Strategic Planning Exercises. The organisations that have benefited include educational bodies, NGOs and health institutions in the public and private sector. Some areas of key competence of the faculty include counselling, participatory training methodology, disability, organisational behaviour, voluntarism, human rights, communal harmony and peace building.

OTHER ACADEMIC ACTIVITIES

Participation in Seminars, Conferences, Workshops and Training Programmes

The Institute's faculty members regularly participate in international, national and regional level seminars, conferences, workshops and training programmes as paper presenters, resource persons, discussants, chairpersons of sessions, special invitees or experts. This year, 93 faculty members participated in 61 international level programmes and presented 22 papers; and 222 national, regional or local level programmes, where they presented 58 papers (Section I: Appendix 8 and Section II: Appendix 4).

The participation of administrative staff (including technical staff) has shown an increase in various seminars, conferences, workshops and training programmes: this year, 24 administrative staff members participated in 21 programmes (Section I: Appendix 9).

Publications by Faculty

Faculty members of the Institute publish their research findings in national and international academic journals and books. They also publish book reviews, conference and seminar reports, and articles in newsletters. In 2004–2005, 43 faculty had publications to their credit. These include 7 authored/edited volumes, 52 articles in journals and books, and 30 other publications (Section I: Appendix 10 and Section II: Appendix 5).

Membership of Executive Committees

Forty-seven members of the Institute's faculty served on 187 executive committees of professional bodies and governmental organisations and NGOs in 2004–2005 (Section I: Appendix 11 and Section II: Appendix: 6).

RESOURCE UNITS

Sir Dorabji Tata Memorial Library

The Sir Dorabji Tata Memorial Library has a specialised collection of resources taking into consideration the teaching programmes and research needs of the Institute. As on date it has a stock of about 1,04,050 volumes. The SDTML subscribes to over 224 journals and has built up a collection of 1,645 audio-visual materials. The SDTML provides a host of information services to its users: Current Awareness Bulletin, Selective Dissemination of Information Bulletin, Online Public Access Catalogue, Document Delivery Service, Laser Printing and Reprographic facilities, Reference Services, Bibliographic Service, and so on. The library has procured the Oxford Braille Dictionary consisting of 125 volumes for the Visually Impaired students.

Some of the online databases presently available for access are Project Muse, Springer Link, J-Gate, JSTOR, Cambridge Journals Online, Encyclopaedia Britannica. The library has also subscribed the online database Proquest with CD-ROM backfiles.

The Tata Education Trust sanctioned a grant of Rs. 1 crore for setting up a state of the art digital library at the TISS. The objectives of the Digital Library are to enable users access these digital collections, regardless of their location, language or formats; to create an environment for a more productive teaching–learning process by providing access to digital library resources; to establish a world class training centre for training social scientists and library science professionals in the field of digital content management and dissemination. The current activities include digitisation of rare documents (creation of e-books), theses and dissertations and project reports/ monographs/technical reports brought out by the faculty.

Publications Unit

The flagship publication of the Institute, The Indian Journal of Social Work (IJSW), is managed by the Publications Unit. The IJSW entered its 66th uninterrupted year of publishing, an unmatched feat in the publishing history of journals in India. Two special issues of the IJSW were brought out this year: 'Social Work Knowledge Development and Dissemination' and 'Sexuality in India (Part 1)'. The Unit participated in book exhibitions and this has helped in wider dissemination of the Institute publications.

National Service Scheme Unit

The National Service Scheme (NSS) Unit conducts Refresher Courses and Orientation Programmes for NSS Programme Officers in Maharashtra. The jurisdiction of the Unit spreads to almost 1,200 NSS Units of Junior and Degree Colleges. This year, the Unit trained 279 NSS Officers through 4 Orientation Programmes of which, one programme each was exclusively done for Medical College Officers and the other for Officers from the Industrial Training Institute. The Unit also conducted 3 Refresher Courses on 'Harmony and Peace', 'Sustainable Rural Development and "Rubarisation"', and 'Resource Mobilisation and Management'. The Unit conducted 2 'Universities Talk AIDS' Programmes for 25 NSS Principals and 26 Programme Officers.

Computer Centre

The Computer Centre (CC) is fully equipped with Local Area Network (LAN) comprising Novell Netware 4.11 Server for data storage; an e-mail Server with e-mail addresses for all faculty, students and staff of the Institute; Intranet Web/FTP Server, 33 Pentium IV Workstations; 12 Printers; 2 Scanners; 2 Multi-Media Projection Systems; and 2 Laptops, with licensed supporting software.

The CC, in collaboration with the Department of Research Methodology conducts short-term training programmes on data analysis in social sciences for researchers and teachers from all over India. The CC is one of 9 such centres sponsored by the Indian Council for Social Science Research to provide guidance and consultancy services to M.Phil. and Ph.D. scholars from universities all over the country. This year 26 M.Phil. and Ph.D. students have availed of this facility. The CC also undertakes data analysis projects for government organisations and this year it successfully completed 13 such projects.

Unit for Media and Communications

The Unit for Media and Communications has been involved in the production of two films. The first film, SheWrite (English and Tamil, 55 mins.), has just been completed. Through the poetry and life stories of four young Tamil women poets, it explores the theme of how women negotiate and transcend circumscribed gendered spaces, to create discourses of empowerment and resistance. The second film, Our Family, on the trans-gendered community, is in process. In addition to this, the Unit has converted all its productions to digital formats, which has helped to widen dissemination possibilities. Its earlier film, Naata, has been screened at over 20 national and international film festivals and has been selected for telecast by Finnish television.

Social Work Education and Practice Cell

The Social Work Education and Practice Cell (SWEPC) coordinated the UGC-sponsored Refresher Courses on 'Social Research Methodology: Theories, Techniques and Applications', 'Human Rights and Responsibilities through Higher Education', 'Gender, Health and Development' and 'Information Technology for Librarians'. The Cell developed teaching-learning resources for social work education in the form of publishing a book on Methodology of Progressive Social Work Education and also co-edited a special issue of the IJSW, among others.

The Cell provided consultation to the Department of Continuing Education of the S.N.D.T. Women's University for starting the M.S.W. Programme. The Cell also collaborated with the International Association of Schools of Social Work for a study on International Exchange and Research Collaborations and an International Project on Innovations in Schools of Social Work.

KUMARAPPA-RECKLESS LECTURE

Mr. Sharada Prasad, Director, Lok Nayak Jay Prakash Narayan National Institute of Criminology and Forensic Sciences, New Delhi, delivered the Kumarappa-Reckless on 'Criminal Justice Reforms in India'. Mr. Sharada Prasad elaborated on the problems faced by the sub-systems of criminal justice administration such as the police, prosecutors, courts and correctional institutions. He emphasised that there was a need to review the Penal Code and other legislations to reduce the number of cases falling under the cognisable category. He also called for special attention to social legislations where the investigative machinery prescribed was other than the police. Lack of facilities at police stations, courts and prisons added to the problems of criminal justice system. Though a number of commissions, committees, working groups and individual experts have identified and suggested mechanisms to induce and sustain change, forward movement has been limited. Mr. Prasad called for urgent action to reform the criminal justice system failing which it might collapse.

STUDENTS

Students' Union

The Students' Union (Section I: Appendix 12) actively participated in facilitating student coordination for tsunami-related efforts. The Union was involved in extracurricular activities, including cultural and literary events. The year began with the monsoon event 'Megh Malhar' and the Spic-Macay programmes. Cultural programmes were also arranged on major festivals imparting the message togetherness to campus life. Meals cooked by the students were appreciated by faculty, staff and their families alike. The Students' Union also supported 'Sameeksha', 'Manthan' and 'Clairvoyance' — the student seminars of the three major disciplines at the Institute. This year, 'Quintessence', the annual student festival of TISS could not be observed due to a large body of students being away at tsunami relief work in Tamil Nadu and Andaman and Nicobar Islands.

Several decisions were taken about concrete initiatives for consolidating the relationship between the Department and alumni.

The Department of Medical and Psychiatric Social Work concluded a two-day seminar for its alumni as one of the first initiatives under its DRS programme with the objective of getting feedback and suggestions from the field.

Prof. Usha S. Nayar, Deputy Director, met with alumni based in New York and Boston, during her professional visit to the United States of America in March–April 2005. This is part of our ongoing efforts to reach out and dialogue with alumni on future thrust area of work of the Institute.

The alumni have enthusiastically welcomed this initiative of the Institute. The Institute will strengthen the linkage with alumni and devise ways to facilitate their active participation.

CAMPUS DEVELOPMENT

Construction

Phase I of the construction programme (Ladies' Hostel, Gents' Hostel, Kitchen with two dining halls, Administrative Building, and 6 Dwelling Units) in the Rural Campus at Tuljapur was completed in May 2004 and the Office of the Rural Campus shifted to the new site on June 14, 2004. Phase II of the construction is to begin in May 2005. A firm with specialisation in innovative rural architecture has been contracted and final designs are being approved. The Institute has prepared an ambitious plan of completing all the buildings, including administration, library, hostels and housing units for all the staff within next 2 years. It would provide for additional hostel capacity with 120 beds. The special feature of this arrangement is that environmental nurturing of the campus such as water harvesting structures and soil conservation along with landscaping would be an integral part of the construction activity. The current plan envisages self-sufficiency in bio-fuel to power the entire campus' activities in five years.

M.K. Tata Memorial Gymkhana and Recreation Centre

The M.K. Tata Memorial Gymkhana and Recreation Centre, constructed with a grant of Rs. 49 lakhs by the M.K. Tata Trust, became fully functional in August 2004. The Institute faculty, staff and their families avail of the different facilities such as yoga, tennis, carom, badminton, and so on. The M.K. Tata Memorial Gymkhana is a welcome addition to the campus families.

Rainwater Harvesting

The Institute has successfully experimented with rainwater harvesting during the last monsoon in two locations on the Campus. This has enabled us to collect a total of 50,000 litres of water which have been used for the garden and hostels.

Waste Management Initiatives

The waste management project saw active participation of the Institute staff, students and residents in segregation, collection and disposal of waste, and also in the attempts to minimise generation of waste. The Institute has been able to use the recycled waste, for the first time, from the vermiculture plant, for its gardens.

Internet Facilities in Hostels

The four hostels and the guest house in the Main Campus and the hostel in the Naoroji Campus Annexe have been connected with Internet through fibre optic cabling. The access to this is being managed by the Computer Centre.

DAY CARE CENTRE

The Day Care Centre (DCC) completed its 18th year in 2004. The activities during the year commenced with a week-long Summer Camp for children aged 5–10 years, in which 75 children participated. The children made an educational visit to a nearby bank, where information on the functioning of banks and money transactions were demonstrated. National events such as Republic Day, Independence Day, Gandhi Jayanti, and Children's Day were celebrated.

Two DCC helpers attended a 10 day Balwadi Teacher's Refresher Course. The DCC also provided internship training to two students of the Narsee Monjee Institute of Management, and 23 students of Swami Vivekanand Junior College of 'Crèche and Pre-school Management' course.

FINANCIAL REPORT

The Audited Income and Expenditure Statement and the Audited Balance Sheet, as on March 31, 2004, is given in Section I: Appendix 14.

CONCLUDING REMARKS

The Convocation is also an ideal opportunity for me to express my sincere gratitude to the members of the Governing Board, the faculty, staff and students of the Institute for your individual and collective contribution to the work of the Institute. I am especially grateful for the warmth and faith with which all of you welcomed me as Director and I look forward to your continued cooperation and trust in the year ahead.

I would also like to take this opportunity to thank the UGC for their continued support and encouragement to the Institute. The moral, technical and financial support of the UGC is critical to the Institute and we look forward to their continued support in the years to come.

The Sir Dorabji Tata Trust and other Tata Trusts have been unflinching in their support of the Institute's many initiatives and we thank them for the same. The Tata Trusts have collectively contributed to infrastructure development at all our campuses; development of the library, and rural development programmes, including staff positions.

The Institute works closely with several local, national and international government and non-government agencies and we are thankful to all of them for their support and collaboration that has enriched the Institute. I would especially like to thank all the agencies and organisations that accepted our students for field work. We are grateful to field work agencies and supervisors for their invaluable contribution to enriching the learning experience of the students.

At this Convocation, 182 Graduates are receiving their Master's degree—117 in Social Work, 34 in Personnel Management and Industrial Relations, 7 in Health Administration and 24 in Hospital Administration—after successfully completing two years of professional education and training. In addition, 3 scholars are being awarded the Master of Philosophy degree and 2 scholars the Doctor of Philosophy degree.

The students, to celebrate whose Graduation we are gathered here today, carry out with them much more than just the knowledge, skills and values they have acquired over their period of study at the Institute. My dear students, you are now fellow travellers on the road to facilitating access to justice, dignity and rights for all people and you carry with you many hopes and dreams. You have had the privilege of having the best of education and training and now it is time for you to fulfil your responsibility to act.

I call upon you to excel, but never to forget that a pursuit of excellence devoid of social vision is nothing but a drive for self-aggrandizement. I congratulate you upon securing the best of jobs and positions but I urge to remember that it is not where you work but in whose interests you work that makes the difference.

And for those of us back at the Institute our work has only just begun. There are many difficult questions to ask of ourselves and many challenges to face. We live in a world where exploitation is getting increasingly sophisticated and violence is permeating every sphere of life. We must be on the guard to ensure that professional social work or for that matter management does not lapse into comfortable insular and unaccountable spaces that many academic institutions, NGOs and corporate entities have become. Everything that we do must be one more step towards achieving our vision of justice, dignity and rights for all people. Let us together look forward to another year of commitment, dedication, struggle, achievement and learning.

Thank you

May 12, 2005
