

Advanced Centre for Women's Studies, School of Development Studies, Tata Institute of Social Sciences

Invites you for the Seminar on

The state and its Archives

The talk examines the ways in which archives in India are constituted in relation to the state and their public. While we tend to view the archives as a distinct kind of document, this suggests that the archival text also needs to be placed in a continuum with other state documents subject to the laws and anxieties governing secrecy and publicity.

Rochelle Pinto

Visiting Fellow at CSDS. Her book, Between Empires - print and politics in Goa was published in 2007 by OUP. Her research interests are print history and nineteenth century colonial history.

24th November, 2014

4-6 p.m

Venue: Clifford Hall , I st Floor , Academic Building New Campus