Imagine if everyone in the world is blind except you....how will you access the world around you...so disability is a social construct and treating with dignity is fundamental... So from today be open to disability issues with openness in thoughts ...imagine about people with blindness & their accessibility in their world for a minute .. when they can’t access buildings, people, things they love to eat, new buildings and their doors, windows, chair, table, bed, food, books, cakes, coffee, mobile phone, school, office, bus, trains, aeroplanes..It’s because we never thought about them when we made the world to live......

Disability is every body’s phenomenon
